Dear Patients and Families,

After 37 wonderful years at Twelve Corners Pediatrics, I will be retiring this July.

This decision has not been an easy one. My feelings are deeply mixed. Caring for your children — and in many cases watching them grow from newborns into parents themselves — has been one of the greatest honors and joys of my life. I have been privileged to witness first breaths, first smiles, first steps, and countless milestones in between. I have shared in your worries and your celebrations. Through it all, you trusted me with what matters most to you — your children — and that trust has never been lost on me.

I will miss every one of you. I will miss the sound of little feet running down the hallway, the artwork slipped into my hands, the shy smiles from toddlers who weren't quite sure about me yet, the deep important discussions with teens and the thoughtful conversations with parents doing their very best each day. I will miss being part of your lives in a way that has never felt transactional, but deeply human and relational.

I also want to reassure you that your children's care will continue seamlessly. It has been very important to me to ensure that this practice remains in capable, compassionate hands. I have every confidence that you will continue to receive the attentive, high-quality care you deserve. Dr Liam LeBlanc will be joining Drs. Carlin, Stutzman and Roberti. Dr LeBlanc is graduating from the URMC Pediatric residency program. We have had the opportunity to work together over the last few months, and I am certain he will be a great addition to the practice. He and our team are committed to supporting your family.

Being invited into your family's journey has been a profound gift. I am so grateful for the relationships we've built and for the community we've shared. This practice has never just been my work — it has been one of my life's great joys.

As I step into this next chapter, I do so with a full heart. Thank you for allowing me the privilege of caring for your children and for growing alongside your families over these many years.

With gratitude and affection,

Dr. Robinson
